Raymond was a veteran of the CF for 33 years, Auxillary member of the RCMP and was employed at King's County Correctional Centre for 15 years. He loved trout and salmon fishing throughout the years and his summer home in Newfoundland. He was an avid hunter as well. Ray loved a good game of crib and always counted your points for you. Ray was a spiritual man and attended church regularly. He loved his family and friends dearly. A special thank you to all the staff at Camp Hill for their excellent care and compassion for Ray. Cremation will take place under the care of Peter Gills, Davis Funeral Home.

When Justin Thomas bought a 43-year-old Dartmouth home, he had to decide whether to replace the aging furnace or switch to a new heating system entirely. After chatting with the team at Evergreen Electric, he learned it made financial sense to convert to a high-efficiency electric heating system. He's one of many Nova swapping the complications that come with furn: oil tanks for the benefits of reliable, efficient hea
